2. THEMES COVERED

Develop the Right Mindset

- The right mindset keeps you rooted in what is possible instead of choosing an interpretation based on fear, blame and being fixed in your comfort zone.

Embrace Change

- Being a change-ready leader is necessary to manage performance in this era where uncertainty characterizes every area of life and work.

Master Employee Engagement

- Employee engagement is not about entertainment. Good leaders are intentional and strategic about how they listen in order to enable, empower and create success for others.

Stay Composed

- Effective leaders stay calm under fire. They take control, leverage their strengths and those of their team and focus on solutions.

Achieve Self-Mastery

- Self-mastery allows you to show up authentically. To lead others, you must lead yourself first. The conscious leader understands that self-leadership is a journey, not an event!

Position Yourself Powerfully

- Successful managers navigate organization politics to create influence, effect change and get things done.

Build Enduring Trust

- Organizations thrive and compete successfully when they can operate at the speed of trust. The attitudes and actions of individuals managers can help create success or frustrate efforts to achieve it.

Avoid 'Backside' Behaviours

- Great leaders consider the feelings of others. They inspire effort by their example, and lead with fairness, integrity, and respect for all!
